WHAT I AM BUILDING

One agent stack — orchestration, AI judges and model routing — grown out of my research on agent swarms, and shipped as four products. I design and build every layer myself, from the agents to the firmware and the device.

FLAGSHIP

Raily — an agent that finds the right people and introduces them

LIVE · RAILY.SI

WHAT IT DOES
Searches for compatible people for friendship and professional networking, explains every match and negotiates the introduction with the other person's agent.

DEVICES · DEVICES.RAILY.SI
One press on a keyring tells the agent where you are and that the moment matters. Keyring P1 kit today; Keyring Air in early access Jan–Feb 2027; a wearable Pin next.

WHERE IT STANDS
Live in 5 languages on web, a Mac App Store app, Telegram, voice and AI-assistant integrations. The iOS app with a voice agent is ready and ships with the device.

First generation, 2023–2025. A travel app with mixed reality: $1.7M pre-seed, LEAP RocketFuel semi-finalist 2024 (Saudi Arabia), Web Summit Qatar, Web Summit ALPHA and BETA, a pilot in Germany with 34,201 people. Rebuilt from scratch in 2026 as an agent with devices, without that capital.

THE SAME STACK, THREE MORE PRODUCTS

> Launched February 2026.

WaitSpin — LIVE

Turns the time AI agents spend thinking into income.

A short sponsored line appears while an AI coding tool works; developers keep 60%. Works in VS Code, Cursor, Claude Code and more; Mac App Store app.

> Launched July 2026. Paid only when a line is seen for 5+ seconds.

HOW I WORK

Build the product early, test it with real users, then turn what I learn into infrastructure — and now into devices.
